A black and white line drawing of a tree with a symmetrical, branching structure. The tree has two main, thick trunks that meet at a low point before spreading out. From these trunks, numerous branches extend in various directions, creating a complex canopy. Some of the branches bear small, dark, leaf-like shapes. The style is minimalist and abstract, focusing on the organic form and symmetry of the tree's growth.

A site plan showing a rectangular plot of land. In the center is a grey building with the number '16' on its side. To the left of the building is a stylized tree icon. Above the building, the address '862' is written. To the right of the building, there is a small garden area containing two smaller grey structures labeled 'tuinhuisje' (garden house) and 'schuurtje' (shed). The plot is bounded by a dashed line on the right and a solid line on the top and bottom. A street name, 'De Riet', is written vertically along the left boundary line.
